SUMMARY.

The British bombard the enemy lines in the neighbourhood of Hohenstaufen. Report and La Bassie.

A Paris communiqué on the whole front, apart from very struggles in the Sally region.

The Germans assert that they drove back the British north-east and east of Leiden.

United aeroplanes are reported to have downed a Zeppelin shot near Brussels, and destroyed a Zeppelin.

The British armament authorities are increasing their demands for more aircraft for renewed operations in the spring.

The military demand young men. They do not favour raising the age.

It is stated, will reach the seventh or eighth month of the year when she will have five times the number of guns.

A message from Berne states that there are signs that the German munition factories are about to indicate the seriousness with which the Allies' efforts are regarded.

A message from Berno states that there are signs that the German munition factories are about to indicate the seriousness with which the Allies' efforts are regarded.

Reports received through Swiss sources state that General Hindenburg has asked that the last of the German troops be sent to the front.

Movements are declared to be absolutely necessary to check the Russo-Roumanian pressure.

Notwithstanding the bad weather, the Roumanians continue to achieve further successes from the Dniester to help von Falkenhausen.

General von Mackensen has sent a division from the Dniester to help von Falkenhausen.

Recent air raids on Bucharest have initiated a counter-attack of the Dniester.

Intelligence reports state that a battle which began fought at Sazlava Pass was a brilliant Roumanian victory.

The Roumanians repelled the enemy from the frontier, and took many prisoners and German communiques say. On the Southern Transylvanian frontier fighting is proceeding in mists and snowstorms.

Recent air raids on Bucharest have initiated a counter-attack of the Dniester.

The Roumanians captured trenches, and recaptured a counter-attack in the direction of the south.

Actions of attacks was also repelled south of the frontier.

The British casualty lists during October averaged 385 officers and 1,050 men.

The number includes approximately 1,050 garrison and 385 men, who were either killed or wounded.

If London has called to the United States forces Berlin and London for full information in regard to the Marne and Roumanian.

It is stated that the situation appears to be satisfactory. The main point is that the British forces were well prepared.

The British force was well prepared.

SUBMARINES

AMERICANS KILLED

INQUIRY ORDERED

There have been no important developments on the western front.

The Roumanians continue to hold their positions on their northern frontier. There has been bitter fighting.

Russian reinforcements continue to arrive; and the enemy is said to have been further embarrassed by mists and snowstorms.

The position in the Dobrojda is still obscure. A Russian-Roumanian offensive is officially reported.

More merchant ships have been sunk by German submarines.

The United States President has cabled urgently for information relative to the sinking of the steamer Mariana, by which a number of Americans lost their lives. Serious developments are possible.

ON THE SOMME.

COMPARATIVELY QUIET.

LONDON, Oct. 31. Sir Douglas Haig, in a report at mid-night on Tuesday, stated: We bombarded many lines in the neighbourhood of Neuville-en-Beine and La Basses Garenne. Considerable hostile shelling occurred at Hettange-le-Bourg on the northern bank, also around Stoff and Gravelotte, and Regne trench.

A communiqué issued in Paris late on Friday night stated: It has been comparative quiet on the whole front, apart from brief and intermittent artillery shelling in the Sully and Saint Pierre Wood districts.

A German communiqué states: We took the enemy north-east and east of Leboeuf. French attacks were made in Maisonneuve on our new trenches on both sides of the Chauvines-Lihons Road, and all failed.

BRITAIN'S ZENITH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. Mr. Frederic Candler, a prominent New York lawyer, who visited the West front of Great Britain, says that Britain will reach the zenith of war preparations next spring, when she will have five times the present number of guns.

105,000 CASUALTIES.

The army during October in the British army aggregated 4366 officers and 18340 men, including approximately 10500 officers and 18340 men who were killed or died. There were also 412 naval casualties.

ZEPPELIN SHED BOMBED.

GENEVA, Oct. 31. A traveller reports that Allied aeroplanes bombed a Zeppelin shed near Brussels, destroying a Zeppelin.

ROLL OF HONOUR.

LONDON, Oct. 1. Second-Lieutenant Adrian Balfour, of the London Regiment, and late of Sydney, and the Rev. Arthur Walker, who was a Lieutenant in the Manchester Regiment, and a son of the Rev. John Walker, a chaplain with the Commonwealth forces, have been killed in action.

DEMAND FOR MEN.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The army authorities are increasingly insistent in their demand for more men for winter training and for renewed operations in the spring. The military demand young men. They do not favour raising the age limit, it is estimated that there are 300,000 under 18 years old serving in munition works and "hazardous" trades (which are mainly essential, and are employing many thousands). Many members of the tribunals have granted exemption to over 200,000 men, the better half, however, Ministers have accepted thousands of young clerks as indispensable. The newspapers are urging drastic reforms. They have suggested that the "hazardous" trades should be reduced, the tribunal reconstructed, all exemptions revised, and the arms to take all the men under 25 years of age, and to make the age to 45, applying the older men for defence against invasion, and releasing the present home army for foreign service.

GERMANY AND ARBITRATION.

N.Y., Nov. 1. What is interpreted as another German ultimatum has been called in the "New York World" by its Berlin correspondent, Mr. Lloyd George (Minister for War), who said: Germany is ready to submit the case of settling the disputes of the war to arbitration. Germany means such an announcement to the world a court of arbitration should it might stop. All in their grim hearts, however, are doubtful. The German Government's failure to accept Mr. Lloyd George's arbitration creates, "If we can't make a more acceptable idea of our aspirations," they say, "there is no way but immediate peace." We should receive the impression that Germany in this case has shown a distinct lack of arbitration.

ROUMANIA HOLDS ON

NO ENEMY PROGRESS.

STILL ACROSS FRONTIER

LONDON, Nov. 1. Official Roumanian circles in London express the opinion that the worst is over. The full pressure of the Russian help will be felt in a few days.

Notwithstanding bad weather the Roumanians continue to score further successes. A telegram from Switzerland states that General von Falkenhayn has asked for heavy reinforcements, as it is absolutely necessary to check the Russo-Roumanian pressure, especially on the Wallachian front, where the German losses have been considerable. General von Mackensen has sent a division from the Dobruja to help von Falkenhayn.

Odessa telegrams state that the Russians have already initiated a counter-attack in the Dobruja, but there is no confirmation of this in the communiques.

The enemy air raids on Bucharest have stopped since the arrival of British and French aeroplanes.

A Roumanian communiqué states: We occupied Mount Rose and took some prisoners. We repulsed attacks in the Prahova Valley and in the region of Dragashov, north of Kimpolung. We continue the pursuit of the enemy in the Jiu Valley.

Reports from Bucharest received in Rome state that a battle, which had been fought at Sardis Pass (between the Vultur and Retezit passes, north-west of Bucharest), was a brilliant Roumanian victory. The Roumanians drove back the enemy from the frontier, and took many prisoners. The enemy has been shaken in the whole of the Transylvanian Alps.

A Roumanian communiqué states: We repulsed attacks at Sardis in the Prahova Valley. Heavy fighting is taking place at Kimpolung, and further west on the left bank of the Alt. The Roumanians continue to press the enemy northwards in the Iiu Valley. We captured 300 prisoners.

A German communiqué states: On the southern Transylvanian frontier fighting is proceeding in mists and snowstorms. The Roumanians failed to recapture the heights north of Orsova. Since October 10 von Falkenhayn has captured 161 officers and 2220 men, 37 guns, and 47 machine-guns.

LOYALISTS FIGHT VENIZELOS

An Athens message states that a regiment of Greeks who are favourable to King Constantine attempted to stop another infantry regiment comprising Greeks who were proceeding from the interior to Salonic to join the National army under Venizelos. There was a fight, but the Venizelots finally beat off the loyalists, and continued their journey, carrying several wounded comrades.

RUSSIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Oct. 31. A Russian communiqué states—in the direction of Lutsk, south of Vinnytsia, we captured trenches and repulsed a counter-attack. We repulsed a series of attacks south of Berezany.

A German communiqué states: On the east bank of the Narwka the Turks stormed positions.

MORE VESSELS SUNK.

Lloyd's reported yesterday that one Greek and two Norwegian steamers have been torpedoed. Thirty-two men from the Glasgow steamer Cabotia (4300 tons), which was sunk on the 20th, are missing.

AMERICAN NAVY'S ROLE.

Admiral Lord Beresford was interviewed in regard to his speech in the House of Lords, when he suggested that the United States warships did not appear anxious to put obstacles in the way of the German submarine.

"I wanted to remove the possibility of serious disagreement," he went on. "The Germans certainly appeared to utilize the American navy for life-saving purposes."

A German communiqué states: After a preliminary success on the Corfu coast the Serbians fell back before a Bulgarian counter-attack.

PROTECTING TRADE.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The House of Lords (Under-Secretary for War) made a statement with regard to the campaign in Mesopotamia. He said the conditions had improved under the War Office control. There was now a hive of industry, containing American, British and British genius. There was a satisfactory supply of barbers, but the greatest difficulty was the supply of labour. He hoped it would be overcome by introducing a labour corps.

Fresh meat was abundant, and the troops had full rations. The transport and flying corps had been considerably reinforced. The hospital arrangements were being perfected. Formerly 2729 soldiers were in hospital weekly. Now the average was 1000. Deaths were formerly 1000 daily, but were now 30. He looked to the future confidently. We had assured mastery in the air.

A German communiqué states:—In the direction of Hamadan (in Persia, east of Mesopotamia) we captured two villages.

ELIMINATING THE GERMAN.

LONDON, Oct. 31. Mr. E. G. Pretyman (Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade) gave a brief account of the registration of the Business Names Bill in the House of Commons, said it was intended to enable the public to know the nationality and business history of firms with whom they were dealing. It would be safe, when considering the commercial situation after the war, to apply international law to submarines.

NORWAY AND GERMANY.

The Norwegian Ambassador in Berlin arrived in Christiansburg to confer with his Government regarding the reply to be sent to Germany's Note protesting against submarine warfare from Norwegian waters.

The Minister of War, Mr. Pretyman, explained that the measure was a private one, and when before the House of Lords would require considerable amendment, notably the clause requiring registration of changes of surnames and nationality during a fixed retrospective period.

The submarine was said to have brought a large cargo of chemicals.

THE DEUTSCHLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 31. It is reported that the German trade submarine Deutschland arrived at midnight at the port of New London, on the Connecticut coast.

The commander, Captain Koenig, states that the Deutschland left Bremen on October 10. The trip was without incident of note.

Mr. Edward Carson deplored the fact that the German submarine Deutschland had contemplated that laws would be necessary in war time demanding the elimination of German influence from trade which had been established as part of Germany's general war policy. The Government had done nothing. The mischief would not have arisen but for the laxity of the neutralisation laws. He hoped the facts regarding such firms would be published.

The submarine was said to have brought a large cargo of chemicals.

THE DEUTSCHLAND.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The "National Tidende" says that a Russian prisoner escaped across the border into Denmark. German guards pursued him, and beat the Russian to death.

The German authorities attempted to intercept the submarine, threatening to shoot it if it came near.

The submarine threatened to shoot them, and dragged back the Russian on to German soil.

MERCHANT SHIPPING.

LONDON, Oct. 31. The steamer Poona (from Brisbane) has arrived at London. The steamer Port Elliott (from Wellington) has arrived at London. The steamer Port Kembla has left for Sydney.

GERMANY'S "RECORD."

LONDON, Oct. 31. It was announced in the House of Commons to-night, on behalf of the Government, that Britain is keeping a record of breaches of international law committed by Germany during the war.

GERMANS WANT WORKERS.

LONDON, Oct. 31. A message from Berlin states that there are signs that German manufacturers badly need workers.

Mr. R. Haslewood (Nationalist) asked in the House of Commons whether £3,000,000 exemption for war work had been authorised for the war, including contributions from the dominions and colonies.

Mr. Lloyd George (Minister for War) said the number ratified daily. He would give the figure during the man-power debate.

Mr. J. C. Wedgwood (Newcastle-under-Lyme) asked, in view of the failure of the existing scheme, would the Government call in men under 23 years of age, calling up other men according to age, as it was found necessary.

Mr. Lloyd George replied that the latest substitution scheme had just been brought in, and it was too early to describe it as a failure.

IRISH RECRUITS.

It is officially announced that Irishmen recruited for general service in future will be given the option of enlisting in an Irish regiment.

The "Irish Times" says, "There is no more important idea of our aspirations," than to make peace.

We should have the impression that Germany in this case has shown a distinct lack of arbitration.

QUESTIONS IN THE COMMONS.

Mr. R. Haslewood (Nationalist) asked in the House of Commons whether £3,000,000 exemption for war work had been authorised for the war, including contributions from the dominions and colonies.

Mr. Lloyd George (Minister for War) said the number ratified daily. He would give the figure during the man-power debate.

Mr. J. C. Wedgwood (Newcastle-under-Lyme) asked, in view of the failure of the existing scheme, would the Government call in men under 23 years of age, calling up other men according to age, as it was found necessary.

Mr. Lloyd George replied that the latest substitution scheme had just been brought in, and it was too early to describe it as a failure.

EX-COMMONER'S PAMPHLETS.

LONDON, Oct. 31. Arnold Lupton, F.G.S., an engineer of the House of Commons, and a very experienced mining engineer, was summoned under the Defence of the Realm Act for publishing pamphlets prejudicial to recruiting, headed: "What are we fighting for? Why don't we make peace?"

Lupton asked for time to prepare his defence. He contended the pamphlet was not directed at the man-power debate.

Mr. J. C. Wedgwood (Newcastle-under-Lyme) asked, in view of the failure of the existing scheme, would the Government call in men under 23 years of age, calling up other men according to age, as it was found necessary.

Mr. Lloyd George replied that the latest substitution scheme had just been brought in, and it was too early to describe it as a failure.

RED CROSS.

Lady Cullen presided at the meeting of the Red Cross Society on Wednesday. Miss Egan gave details of the Red Cross Packing Depot in Sydney. She said that the amount of work done by the volunteers was wonderful. Many of the country districts sent in large quantities of clothing. The depot supplied the Red Cross Hospital and the depots for parcels to the camps and convalescent homes. Regarding the work of the Red Cross, Lady Cullen said that very short notice was given to the camp stocks and working workers, the depot was equal to all demands. The Red Cross had sent 100,000 parcels to the front, including 2,000 tons of pyjamas, 800 shirts, 900 pairs of socks, and 900 towels of all kinds.

The Australian Branch of the Red Cross Society, said that as a result of Melbourne's efforts, the Red Cross had much more work to do in Australia. The Red Cross Society, however, was doing its best. Many of the country districts sent in large quantities of clothing. The depot supplied the Red Cross Hospital and the depots for parcels to the camps and convalescent homes. Regarding the work of the Red Cross, Lady Cullen said that very short notice was given to the camp stocks and working workers, the depot was equal to all demands. The Red Cross had sent 100,000 parcels to the front, including 2,000 tons of pyjamas, 800 shirts, 900 pairs of socks, and 900 towels of all kinds.
